Lingnan and You...

GOH, Chen Yik (Malaysia)

Bachelor of Social Sciences

It is a blessing and privilege to be given the opportunity to study overseas under the Lingnan University Non-Local Student Scholarship. The experience has been wonderful and exciting! I have managed to discover new personal values and talents. Such values and talents are nurtured and enhanced under the guidance and support of the staff and lecturers in Lingnan. My life here in Lingnan is indeed a journey of self-discovery with a group of right-minded people. I am more than excited to continue my Lingnan journey.

HAN, Paul Lu (Myanmar)

Bachelor of Social Sciences

"Why did you choose Lingnan?" is a question people ask me very frequently in Lingnan. I am delighted to say that I chose Lingnan because I believe that liberal arts education will boost my ability to become an informed citizen, a lifelong learner, and most importantly, a critical thinker. Never have I imagined in my life that I would belong to a liberal arts community with accessible professors, helpful staff, and friendly students. Apart from academic activities, talking to friends from different countries, doing service-learning, and leaving my comfort zone by joining Toastmasters are so far the most remarkable parts of my journey in Lingnan.

SMITH, Akinyemi Oritseweyin (Nigeria)

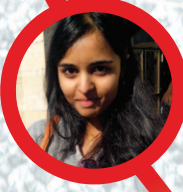

Bachelor of Business Administration

At the beginning, I was alien to the concept of liberal arts education, but I have grown to love the idea of liberal arts education as well as Lingnan itself. I barely notice that I am about 7,000 miles away from Nigeria; the staff as well as students are ever willing to help and are always a joy to be around. The professors are approachable and keen to impact knowledge. They contribute so much to my development.

SIDDIQUI, Manaal (Pakistan)

Bachelor of Business Administration

Every new day just reconfirms that coming to Lingnan University was the best choice for me. Lingnan is a warm family that is always supporting and encouraging of the students. Liberal arts concept is brilliant in that it makes sure that we develop ourselves in all the areas and not just academics. There are so many clubs and societies that one can join to pursue their interests and meet people from diverse backgrounds. I am immensely grateful to Lingnan for giving me the best experiences in my life and adding tremendously to my attributes to make me a much better person.

NGUYEN, Thi Thao Vy (Vietnam)

Bachelor of Business Administration

I am so thankful to have received the Non-local Student Scholarship of Lingnan. This opportunity has provided me with a wonderful learning environment where I could nurture my passion and make my dreams come true. The experiences at Lingnan have actually surpassed my expectations. Its whole-person approach has granted me the chance to improve myself on many aspects and to truly grow up. Here I have built valuable friendships which always make me feel warm and supported. I really feel proud and blessed to pursue my higher education in this only liberal arts university in Hong Kong.

YANG, Meng Ying (Taiwan)

Bachelor of Arts in Translation

Studying in Lingnan University is a brand new experience for me. It offers various opportunities for us to explore the world and at the same time explore ourselves. We could never get bored with so much amazing challenges ahead. Being able to make friends with people from different cultural backgrounds is one of the most interesting parts in my journey here. We can always gain more understanding towards different cultures through their sharing. The students and staff are always willing to give their support whenever we need. All I can say is I am so lucky to be part of this big family!

YUSUF, Maisha Maliha (Bangladesh)

Bachelor of Business Administration

I consider myself fortunate to be accepted to Lingnan and receive the Non-local Student Scholarship. As one of the leading liberal arts universities, Lingnan provides excellent opportunities for whole-person development for students from all over the world. The University community is small, familiar and collegial. Everyone knows each other and cares for another like an extended family! The small class size facilitates close faculty-student relationship. The hostel life is full of fun. I have made some very close friends at the hostels. In addition to the effective pedagogy, Lingnan provides abundant global experiential learning opportunities through international exchange programmes and overseas Service-Learning programmes which I am looking forward to very much!

Testimonials from Employers and Community Partners

"Asia Financial and Asia Insurance – one of Hong Kong's leading general insurance companies – need people who can learn, think for themselves, ask the right questions and communicate well with colleagues and clients. Over the years several dozen Lingnan graduates have joined our insurance underwriting, claims and reinsurance teams and our investment department. One is now a senior vice president, and of the 20 who have joined since 2009, three have already been promoted to assistant manager. We hope to welcome more staff with the Lingnan liberal arts background in the future."

The Hon CHAN, Bernard Charnwut

President

Asia Financial Holdings Limited & Asia Insurance Company Limited

"EY is a global organisation with 212,000 employees in 730 offices across 150 countries by 2015, and we look for talents with international vision. A number of Lingnan graduates with liberal arts education have joined EY to begin their journey of valuable lifelong experience. We look forward to welcoming more Lingnan graduates to join our global organisation."

Mr WEI, Kenny

Partner, International Tax Services - Transfer Pricing
Ernst & Young Tax Services Limited

"We had young student interns from Lingnan University year after year. We found that they are energetic, motivated and have excellent skills. Service-Learning is a new form of learning and teaching that all universities are trying to incorporate. Lingnan University has been a pioneer in this area. We look forward to seeing the fruitful results of Lingnan's Service-Learning, and hope that Lingnan will build an even stronger and more effective partnership network in the next decade."
